Carers

Are you caring for someone who is experiencing mental health problems?

Are you getting enough support and information?

Carers of people with mental health problems often have to cope in extremely difficult and stressful situations.

Oxleas House Carers Support Group

At Oxleas House, we recognise the important role that you have as a carer.

We hope to offer you the support and information that you need to assist you in providing ongoing care to your relative or friend.

What happens at the group?

Oxleas House Carers Support Group provides practical information and support in a relaxed and friendly atmosphere, through shared experiences of people in similar situations.

The group is run every Wednesday between 7pm and 8pm in Oxleas House and is facilitated by two experienced members of staff who will give assistance and provide information on a variety of issues related to caring for your friend or relative.

While we encourage active participation in the group, we recognise that this can be difficult with people you are not familiar with, so there will be no pressure to share your own experiences, and you are welcome to come along to just listen and observe.

Who can come along?

Oxleas House Carers' Support Group is open to anyone who provides emotional or practical support for people who are currently receiving help or treatment from services provided at Oxleas House.

As well as sharing information, we hope to provide you with support that will enhance your own wellbeing.

If you are interested in attending, please speak to the person in charge of the care of your relative or friend.

Comments and Suggestions

We welcome comments and feedback about our group. If you would like to comment please speak to the person running the group or the modern matron of the inpatient unit.
