Patient Advice & Liaison Service (PALS)

PALS is a free, confidential service helping patients, families and carers to deal with concerns about the treatment and care we provide.

By telling us your concerns you can help us improve services. Raising concerns will not harm or prejudice the care that you, or the person you care for, are given.

How we can help

- Help you find out about our services
- Help you resolve concerns or difficulties you may have with the services you are receiving
- Tell you about independent local or national organisations that may be able to help and support you
- We can arrange an interpreter if required

We do this by

- Keeping you informed
- Contacting doctors, nurses, therapists, managers and other staff to help ensure a speedy solution to your problems
- Getting professional clinical advice on your behalf
- Providing information on how to make a formal complaint if required
