What is Tall Trees

Tall Trees is a specialist day service that offers a person centred approach for people with learning disabilities who have severe behavioural challenges and/or an Autistic Spectrum disorder.

This includes people who have social impairment, other health needs and those with sensory and physical disabilities.

Tall Trees supports its service users to access community based activities as well as specialist health and social care services.

Want to find out more about Tall Trees?

You can ring us on to find out more.

We help people to access services to meet their health and social care needs.

We work alongside specialist services such as the community dentist

psychiatry

physiotherapy

speech and language therapy

psychology

occupational therapy.

Each service user has their own programme of activities. This is designed to meet the different needs of each service user.

Tall Trees opens from Monday to Friday and has places for 10 people. Service users can attend for up to 10 sessions (5 days) each week depending on their needs.

Where is Tall Trees?

Tall Trees is based in a new, purpose built building at Goldie Leigh in Abbey Wood.

Who is Tall Trees for?

Tall Trees is for adults with a learning disability who live in Greenwich Borough and need a specialist day service for people who have severe behavioural challenges and/or have an Autistic Spectrum disorder. People can come from many different settings including residential settings or living with families.
